I. INTRODUCTION

The Planning & Research Unit, Administrative Division of the RI Department of Corrections prepared this report. Data contained in the report were obtained through the Department's INFACIS database and analyzed by the Planning & Research Unit staff, unless noted otherwise.

The majority of information in this report is a summarization of RIDOC's stock population on June 30, 2002. Readers should be cautioned that stock data does not capture the flow of inmates into and out of RI's correctional system, instead stock data are a "snapshot" of RIDOC's population on one particular day. Please pay special attention to the title of each graphic, as the title will indicate if the data is representative of a time period other than the stock date (i.e., fiscal year, calendar year).

There are two noticeable changes in this report: (1) the inclusion of facility-specific demographic data for the Women's Transitional Housing Program and (2) an increase in the amount of Probation & Parole data that is presented. The Transitional Housing Program, which opened in September of 2001, provides intensive community-based services and housing for minimum-security female offenders. The Program can accommodate 12 offenders, but has averaged 7 inmates since its opening. As interest in community corrections, (specifically probation and parole) has grown recently, the Director has requested that the Community Corrections section of this report be augmented. Two new graphs have been added for this reason.

Additional copies of this report can be downloaded from the RIDOC website at www.doc.state.ri.us/divisions/admin. If you should require additional information regarding the information contained in this report, contact Bree Derrick, Principal Planner, at (401) 462-3921.
